Company Profile

Karenn Case Marketing Agency is a boutique marketing firm that provides digital marketing strategies, website development, blog and content writing, social media management, graphic design materials, and helps to build relationships in public relations and brand management through the media for companies or businesses who do not wish to hire an in-house marketing team or are looking to supplement their existing marketing team. This is a small, yet collaborative company made up of creative and passionate individuals located in San Francisco, California. Since this is a relatively new firm, the company hopes to portray that they are personable, creative, hardworking and sophisticated. Their competitors consist of companies who would prefer to have an in-house marketing team, as well as other boutique marketing agencies located in the area. Their clients consist of Bay Area companies who are looking to add a marketing team or supplement their in-house marketing team, and consist of primarily smaller and mid-sized companies who are willing to give the agency a chance to demonstrate the value a marketing team can have.
